RELAZIONE FINALE

- Il progetto ha rappresentato per me un'importante occasione di formazione professionale in un'ottica di internazionalizzazione della scuola.
- Nello specifico ho scelto di approfondire le mie conoscenze di lingua straniera partecipando ad un corso di lingua inglese dove ho potuto ampliare il mio vocabolario ma soprattutto le competenze legate all'interazione con altre persone provenienti da altre realtà europee e locali.
- Non un apprendimento di tipo scolastico, ma pratico che mi ha permesso di immergermi anche nella storia e nella cultura del territorio che ci ha ospitato.

Learn about the Great Famine

THE GREAT FAMINE History-at-Home Pack

A HISTORY OF... The Great Famine

- a lot of people leave Ireland
- 1845 - 1852
- a million Irish people died
- very important factor → Great famine

EMIGRATION

There were many different schemes offered to those wishing to leave Ireland during these times. For example, an emigration committee was set up by the British government offering incentives to landlords to send their tenants abroad, while the Earl Grey scheme transported orphaned girls from the workhouses to male-dominated Australia. Other schemes involved applications from individuals and granted everything from first class travel to land, gold and husbands to those who arrived. Of those who left, approximately 70% went to America and 15% to Canada, while most of the rest went to Australia and Britain.

THE FAMINE

THE BLIGHT

Phytophthora infestans - or the potato blight fungus - struck for the first time in America in the summer of 1845. It wasn't long before the terrible fungus spores accidentally landed on board a ship in a cargo of seemingly healthy potatoes, and in August 1845, the blight arrived on Irish shores at the Dublin Botanical Gardens. When the blight hit the first year, it was a disaster for poor Irish tenants because reliant on a crop that grew well in damp and poor soil, and provided good nutritious potatoes. However, when the blight returned in the following years, it meant poverty, disease, starvation, and death or emigration for many.

Wheat, oats and barley were exported during the famine.

The Quinn Brothers

- Thomas and Patrick Quinn
- before the Great Famine
- from Stokestown to Dublin

today ↓ it is a National Famine way

- they represent the families

→ a lot of Irish people walked without shoes.

John Ruskin
The Great Western Railway
Rain, Steam, and a Great Railway Bridge
1844
Oil on canvas
184 x 138 cm
The painting shows a steam locomotive crossing a railway bridge over a body of water. The scene is characterized by soft, atmospheric lighting, suggesting a rainy or steamy day. The brushwork is visible, capturing the texture of the water and the atmosphere.

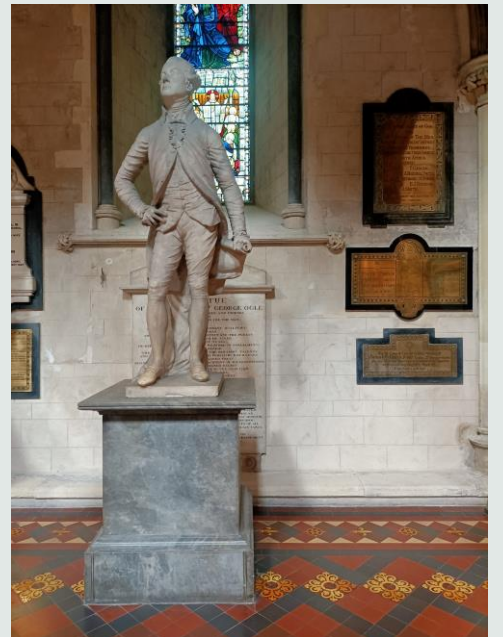

Pablo Picasso
Les Femmes d'Alger
1911-1912
Oil on canvas
The painting shows a group of figures in a domestic setting, rendered in a highly stylized, cubist manner. The composition is dominated by bold colors and geometric shapes, with a central figure wearing a red and white patterned headscarf. The background features a large, abstract shape in shades of blue and green.
